I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself as a “renewing” missionary candidate.

I grew up in an EC pastor's home, went to Christian day schools for Jr/Sr High, and attended Bible College, before heading for the mission field. I initially taught Missionaries' Kids (MKs) in a little one-room school (gr. K-5) in Tanzania with Africa Inland Mission, and later taught MK's in Guatemala for 9 years over a period of 14 years in 3 different programs: Supervising home school extension program (K-8), teaching 6th gr & Middle School English, and developing the NILD Discovery program for kids who had learning disabilities (K-12). In between and after all that, I did substitute teaching in many Christian & public school across Lancaster County, worked on staff at my church for 2 years as Director of Christian Development, and worked at The Janus School (for students with learning disabilities) in several positions from tutor, summer program director to Lower Division Head over a 12 year span. Since June 2006, I have been self-employed doing tutoring, testing, academic coaching, consultation, and intervention with home school, Christian school, cyber school, private school, and college students, as a School Psychologist, Reading Specialist, and Educational Therapist.

I enjoy reading, traveling, cooking, baking, biking, hiking, camping, photography, and chats with close friends. I love the variety of my current work and look forward to including MK students, their parents and teachers.

I am currently a Wycliffe (WBT) Volunteer Member under our EC Global Missions Community (GMC) with the job description as an Educational Specialist to be an international consultant to Missionary Kids (MK) schools. While continuing my private practice here in Lancaster, PA, I've already begun this ministry by going for one or two weeks at a time to Guatemala and Mexico annually. More trips are being discussed and planned with requests from many locations in Asia.

Blessings, Beth Grimm
