

EC LEADER

APRIL 2018

From the Bishop:

The 16th chapter of Matthew tells us about a confrontation between Jesus and a group of Pharisees and Sadducees. The Pharisees were the larger and more popular group. The Sadducees were much smaller but they controlled much of what happened in and around the great Temple in Jerusalem.

Some might suggest that they were kind of like the Republicans and the Democrats who make up the U.S. Congress; at time they had to work together, but most of the time they didn't get along.

So a group of men from the two parties came to test Jesus demanding Jesus perform some great "miraculous sign from heaven" to prove his authority; to prove he was the Messiah.

Jesus responded by calling their attention to a common saying about the weather, "Red sky at night means fair weather tomorrow; red sky in the morning means foul weather all day." Just like today people want to know what the weather will be; they just have weather.com to find out; so they looked at the colors in the sunsets and sunrises, the winds and the clouds. What Jesus was saying was while these religious leaders could read the skies for weather, they couldn't figure out the spiritual "signs of the times"

So Jesus says in effect, you want a sign proving that I am the Messiah, the anointed one of God?

"The only sign I will give them is the sign of the prophet Jonah." So what's the sign of Jonah? Go back into your childhood Sunday School memories; how long was Jonah inside the big fish? [Three days.] In a similar passage Jesus said, "...so will the Son of Man be in the heart of the earth for three days and three nights." Jesus would give them the sign—a suffering Savior who gave himself to die on a cross, buried in the earth for three days, and then, like Jonah, to miraculously come back.

It's not necessarily wrong to look for a sign, to look for evidence. The book of Judges tells us about Gideon who was drafted by God to be the general of the Hebrew army. It's one thing to be drafted; it's another to be grafted to be the general! Gideon wanted to be sure that it really was God calling him so he asked for a sign; actually a couple of them. God was gracious and answered Gideon's requests.

Some people think that believing in Jesus is a step in blind faith. Yet, Christianity is not based on blind faith; it is to believe based on evidence that establishes our convictions. Jesus' teaching, his life, his death and, above all, his resurrection speaks to us. My response to the truth of the resurrection is to believe Jesus is who he says he is, to trust in Jesus, to follow him in discipleship, and to serve him with my whole life. Jesus is alive!

In Christ's service,

Thanks to almost everyone for completing the workers compensation forms on a timely basis. The workers compensation audit is scheduled and the invoices will be sent to the church by mid April. Churches not included in the denominational workers compensation group policy; Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky churches, however your individual state mandates workers compensation coverage. Please confirm that all employees of the church are covered by workers compensation insurance. The annual disability premium was due January 15 and the Benefit Corporation administrative fee is due by April 15, 2018, retirees are not subject to the administrative fee. Both of these fees are listed in the Treasurer's Guide available on the EC website. Many have remitted the disability fee timely and a few have already submitted the administrative fee and we thank you for your diligence and hard work.

Treasurers please confirm that you are remitting your ministry fund payments on the correct monthly form. In 2018 the ministry fund percentage decreased to 6.75%.

To date about 80% of pastoral compensation forms have been returned. Thanks to all the churches that have responded. We will be reminding non compliant churches to complete and submit their pastoral compensation forms.

Please save Dave King some work by submitting your pastoral compensation forms as soon as possible.

Tax Cut and Jobs Act Legislation

The Tax Cut and Jobs Act, aka Tax Reform, signed into law on December 22, 2017 contains a few provisions that pastors and lay leaders should be aware of. The most talked about provision is the increase in the standard deduction that has the potential to reduce charitable giving. With the increase in the standard married couple deduction to $24,000 from $12,700 reduces the importance of a charitable gift to reduce tax liability. In other words, a couple that in previous years itemized deductions and the total of those deductions exceeded the $12,700 married couple standard deduction would be able to reduce their tax liability for every $1 of deductions over the standard deduction of $12,700. Donations to charities, including churches, were a key tax reduction strategy for tax payers to exceed the $12,700 standard deduction. Now with the standard deduction at $24,000 there is less of a tax savings incentive to make a charitable donation. A typical tax payer that may have $10,000 in eligible tax deductions has no tax savings incentive to make a $3,000 charitable gift to exceed the previous $12,700 standard deduction if the standard deduction is now at $24,000. The tax payer can keep his $3,000 and have the same tax liability whether his itemized deductions are $10,000 to $13,000. Only a small portion of high wage U.S. taxpayers will be itemizing deductions that will exceed the new standard deduction for couples of $24,000.

As Christians we should not base our tithes and offerings off of the U.S. tax code however most experts are anticipating a decrease in giving to churches in 2018. Various ministry and other organizations are advertising methods and campaigns to minimize the anticipated decrease in giving. I have never been a supporter of schemes or gimmicks to increase giving. I do encourage pastors and lay leaders to begin conversations and be aware of how giving is trending at their church during 2018 and most likely any impact of decreased giving will be felt in the traditional end of the calendar year giving bump in December. I believe this is a time for churches to act on faith and not decrease ministry opportunities out of fear of what may or may not happen. Being a good steward by counting the cost and making plans is different than a hide in a bunker and survive at any cost mentality.

Two other concerns are the elimination of miscellaneous deductions and tax free moving costs. All pastors should have an accountable reimbursement plan for ministry expenses such as travel, professional development or cell phone reimbursement. An accountable plan is a plan or procedure in which the pastor submits mileage or receipts of costs that they have incurred in the course of performance of their job duties and are reimbursed by the church. I know there are EC churches that have non accountable plans that provide to the pastor a set amount each month for their out of pocket ministry costs without the pastor providing receipts or details of the expenditure. If the pastor was completing an accurate tax return the difference between the reimbursements received under a non accountable plan and their documentable expenses is taxable income or a tax deduction depending if the reimbursements exceeded or were less than the actual expenses. Now that the miscellaneous deduction has been eliminated, eliminating the ability for the pastor to deduct a short fall in their non accountable plan reimbursements, expenses should be reimbursed under an accountable plan thus eliminating the potential of a tax liability for the pastor.

All pastoral moving costs whether paid by the local church or by the denomination are taxable income in 2018. It does not matter if the pastor is actively serving a church or retired or in a parsonage or in their own home or if the move is 500 miles or 10 miles, all moving costs paid for by the local church or denomination are taxable income. Pastors that have their moving cost paid for by the denomination a 1099-MISC tax form will be supplied by January 31 of the next year and must be included on your personal taxes.

I recommend during late spring or early summer 2018 that pastors schedule time with their tax preparers and review what impact the Tax Reform legislation will have on their 2018 taxes. The rules of conference will be updated to comply with the current tax laws.

As always, please contact Dave King, Benefits Administrator, or Kevin Henry, Executive Director, with any questions or problems, dking@eccenter.com, khenry@eccenter.com or 717-866-7581.

Garden Club Achieves Certification from Penn State

The StoneRidge Garden Club at StoneRidge Poplar Run in Myerstown, whose entries at area fairs and gardening events each year reap many winning ribbons and accolades, has worked toward and achieved a certification from the Penn State Cooperative Extension. The garden property at StoneRidge has been designated a "Pennsylvania Pollinator Friendly Garden." This certifies that the property provides food and habitat for native insects and animals which in turn provides the pollination needed to protect our plant diversity and food sources. Club President and Certified Master Gardener Doris Yochum was delighted that the club achieved this important certification. "It is an important designation for us and affirms our commitment to maintain the natural integrity of the property for which we are responsible," Yochum said.

*StoneRidge Retirement Living Communities is comprised of four retirement communities in South Central Pennsylvania. Locations include StoneRidge Poplar Run and StoneRidge Towne Centre both in Myerstown and Church of God Home in Carlisle and Schoolyard Square in Pine Grove. For more information about options available for you or a loved one, visit us online at www.StoneRidgeRetirement.com or call us at 717-866-3553. StoneRidge Retirement Living is all about just that—living!

News from the Ministerial Development Community

What You Can Expect from the Pastoral Assessment Center

Five individuals who went through the PAC in 2018 have answered a few questions about their experience this past year. Below is a compilation of some of their answers.

1. What did you learn from the pre-PAC discipleship huddles?

I learned how to start dealing with past disappointments and to not let them build up inside of me... The most important thing I learned was the value of ongoing fellowship and openness with a small group of believers in order to be properly disciplined. I learned clearly how to be a disciple and how to disciple others. I learned to look for kairos moments—special times when God is working and when He wants me to maybe make a change.

2. How did the PAC help you to understand the EC Church better?

PAC allowed me to see the real commitment that the EC Church has in helping those who have God's call to be a pastor. With having so many of the EC leaders there, PAC helped me realize that the EC Church is there to help you in any way they can to help grow your ministry. I came to understand "the EC way" — the method, as well as the vision, behind the way the EC Church does things. I was struck by the diversity of congregational cultural under the EC umbrella.

3. What tools and resources were most helpful?

It is very difficult to choose a single tool. But I think it was very helpful for my life, the assigned readings, starting from the book "Building a Discipling Culture" to the readings on the web. All the tools were valuable; but I learned most from the Grip-Birkman tool what I need to be aware of in myself as a leader. I could see both the strengths and the potential dangers or disadvantages in my leadership style. This, in turn, made me more aware of the need to build a team for ministry. The marriage assessment helped both my wife and I see that we are more in line with how we think of the other more than we thought. Natural Church Development helped me narrow and refine the most important things to concentrate on. And God Space is a helpful way to look at outreach and how to communicate.

4. What would you say to someone entering next year's PAC?

Before I went to PAC, I was told: "They want to see where your heart is." I can say the same now that I've been to PAC. Be prepared for questions that will make you think; be ready to open your heart and learn where you're strong and where you're weak; be ready to have your idea of ministry sharpened and redefined. Relax. Don't sweat the intimate nature of the interview questions. Do not let anything impede your participation in this event. The PAC experience will confirm the call that the Lord has made to your life. Be ready for a week that will challenge and stress you out but when it's all done, the PAC experience will change your life!

If you are sensing a call to pastoral ministry, it is essential that you first discuss this matter with the lead pastor at your church and talk to other leaders who are able to observe your gifts and abilities in action. If they provide you with positive (and constructive) feedback, your next step would be to contact me at jgbyerly@eccenter.com or call me at 570-294-3467. The 2019 PAC information follows this article.

Blessings,

DIVERSE CALLINGS IN THE CHURCH

The Ministerial Development Community (and previously the Conference Relations Committee) has listened to the stirrings within our men and women sensing ministerial callings over the years. As we have listened, we have noticed the opportunity to consider that God often speaks to people within a variety of contexts and toward a variety of different expressions.

We are reminded that Paul says in Ephesians 4:11-16:

So Christ himself gave the apostles, the prophets, the evangelists, the pastors and teachers, to equip his people for works of service so that the body of Christ may be built up until we all reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature, attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of God.

When we look at the five-fold ministry of APEST (Apostles, Prophets, Evangelists, Shepherds (or Pastors), and Teachers), we see a diversity of gifts that are not easily categorized into our current pastoral structure. As we observe how God is working in the midst of our churches and field of ministry, we've been considering what might be involved in expanding our view of ministry and categories for ministerial credentials.

Therefore, the MDC leadership would like to facilitate a discussion around the diversity of gifts for ministry. Not only are we interested in how this conversation could enhance the ongoing work within our churches and our fields of ministry, but we would value the opportunity to join with others in these pursuits. We are likewise aware that many differing views exist around this five-fold ministry concept, and would appreciate dialogue, debate, and feedback in regard to this discussion.

If you are interested, please contact Jeff Byerly at jgbyerly@eccenter.com to join us for lunch and the discussion to follow.

2018 NATIONAL CONFERENCE

May 30, 31—June 1
Messiah College, Grantham, PA

What is the life of following Jesus all about? We go to church on Sunday morning to enjoy fellowship and worship. Those are good things; but is that all there is to it? An hour or two until next Sunday when we show up and do it all again; but nothing in between changes—there's no difference at home, work, school, or in our relationships. Paul tells us Jesus died so that those who receive his new life will no longer live for themselves. Instead, they will live for Christ. We are to be ALL IN! That means more than what I do—it is who I am as a disciple of Jesus.
