EC GLOBAL PRAYER GUIDE

JANUARY 2019

MEXICO

The EC work in Mexico began in the 1940's with Mae Royer, a missionary nurse who eventually established a home in northern Mexico for orphaned and unwanted children known as "El Retiro Juvenil". Many of the young men who grew up there went on to be pastors, training at the Rio Grande Bible Institute.

Out of these roots, the EC churches in northern Mexico and Texas were begun.

For many years there did not seem to be a great deal of growth in our churches. Since many of the men had received training at a bible school that held different theological views than the EC doctrine, eventually there were some lively discussions among the pastors. Some pastors chose to leave the EC denomination, either on their own or taking their church with them.

Under the leadership and vision of former superintendent Rev. Elias Martinez, the EC churches of Mexico took on the responsibility of paying their own pastors instead of relying on GMC monies, and also for caring for their buildings. They developed their own training school for pastors, and fulfilled the requirements to be their own national conference: self-governing, self-sustaining and self-propagating.

In 2017, the EC churches in Mexico became their own National Conference, and were celebrated at the National Conference-USA in May, and then in their own conference in July. They are now formally known as the E.C. Church of Latin America. The new Superintendent, Rev. Juan Zuñiga, wants to see the EC footprint go beyond the northern area of Mexico, and even into other countries in Latin America.

Rev. Zuñiga reports that there are currently 11 churches, three missions and a married couple being trained to open a mission in Oaxaca, a state in southern Mexico. In addition, an institute was opened to train new pastors. So far eight couples have taken training and are already serving in the pastorate.

Please keep Rev. Zuñiga and his wife Rosie in prayer, as well as the other leaders of our EC Church of Latin America. Their vision is to see all of Latin America come to know the Gospel and Jesus as Savior.
